

This Week in Health Tech

HISstalk's 5 Top Stories in 60 Seconds

November 12, 2025

#1 UnitedHealthcare Eliminates RPM Coverage

What Happened:

UnitedHealthcare will stop covering remote monitoring for certain uses.

Why It Matters:

The payer's evidence-based decision to only cover remote patient monitoring for heart failure and pregnancy-related hypertensive disorders may prompt other payers to look at their own reimbursement policies and RPM vendors to rethink their business models.

#2 Tala Health Raises $100 Million

What Happened:

Tala Health raises $100 million in financing.

Why It Matters:

AI agent company Tala Health will use the funding to expand its AI and clinical teams and speed up product development.

#3 Emergence Acquires MedEvolve

What Happened:

Holding company Emergence acquires RCM vendor MedEvolve.

Why It Matters:

Emergence will focus on expanding MedEvolve's investments in data science, automation, and AI-powered analytics.

#4 SymphonyAI Combines Businesses

What Happened:

SymphonyAI Group combines Get Well and RhythmX AI to form GW RhythmX.

Why It Matters:

The new business will offer patient engagement and AI-driven precision care solutions.

#5 Microsoft Forms MAI Superintelligence Team

What Happened:

Microsoft AI announces that it will form an MAI Superintelligence Team.

Why It Matters:

Microsoft AI's new team will focus on developing AI that exceeds human capability, with medical diagnostics being its first focus area.

What's Your Take?

Follow for more weekly news recaps.

Read HlStalk for details and breaking news.

Brought to you by Medicomp Systems, which supports independent health tech journalism.

